I am an actor/writer/comedian/producer/editor out here in LA, and have several years of experience with different live and film projects.

I take it upon myself whenever I'm cast in a project to ask what else needs done, and in turn become a producer in the sense that I help cast the rest of the project, find locations, additional props and wardrobe, as well as help set up production meetings, table reads, and assist in the post process. I work very well as part of a team, as either the team leader or part of the team. I can also go off and do tasks on my own to collaborate later.

I have been a writer/performer at both UCB on a Maude (sketch) team, iO West, and most recently on the Sunday Company at Groundlings. Each of those "teams" required me to conceive, write, and produce the sketches, many times leading to filming the ones that went well onstage.

I also produced my first feature while playing the lead in it, and it just received digital distribution (Amazon Prime, Hulu, etc.) as well as theatrical release: The Worst Year of My Life. I also recently was cast in and co-producer on a feature by Melissa Finell, Sensitivity Training.
